I. ATTORNEYS’ REPORT

In compliance with the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign Student Legal Service Plan, the staff attorneys are pleased to submit the 2010 Annual Report to the Student Legal Service Advisory Board, the Board of Trustees, and the University community.

This report for the second year will be placed on the program website, www.odos.illinois.edu/sls in the “Annual Reports” link to the left. All previous annual reports from 1978 to present may also be accessed on the webpage.

This year, 267 individuals accessed the “Annual Reports” section of the website with a total of 387 pageviews of the index page only; there is currently no way to count which pdf files were viewed. Staff believe that these postings give students valuable knowledge about the program and how their fee money is spent.

FINANCES

The program received $300,000.00 from SORF during this reporting period, and $300,000.00 has been allocated for 2010-2011. This allocation does not permit any significant program growth and freezes preventive legal education advertising, while it places greater reliance on the website and personal outreach by staff attorneys. The staff fully recognize that Student Legal Service is not unique at the University in having to do more with constrained budgets.

THE STAFF

Beckee Bachman has been working as the office support staff (formerly “secretary”) since August of 2003. Ms. Bachman handles client intakes; screening; scheduling; word processing; our brochure design and layout; compilation of bills and expenses, and submission for payment, among many other duties. Ms. Bachman is fluent in Spanish, which is very useful for staff and students. She performs above and beyond her duties.
Natalie Bradford worked as a work-study student worker during the spring semester. She has been a valuable addition to our office with her office skills and abilities, and has been able to relieve Ms. Bachman of some tasks in order to concentrate on others.

Thomas E. Betz is the directing attorney for the office, currently nearing his twenty-fifth year with the program. Betz is a 1981 graduate of Wayne State University Law School, a member of the Illinois Bar and formerly a member of the Michigan Bar. He is a member of the Champaign-Urbana Tenant Union Community Advisory Board. Mr. Betz is also an elected member of the Champaign County Board, since 1995, and serves as Vice Chairman of the Board; Chairman of the Policy, Appointments, and Procedures Committee; and is a member of the Finance Committee and the Labor Negotiations Committee. Betz is also, for the seventh year, the Chair of the “Elizabeth Berg Streeter Community Service Award” committee of the National Legal Aid and Defenders Association -- Student Legal Services Section.

At the 16th Annual University Student Legal Service Association Conference, Betz presented a paper and led a discussion on “Effectively Marketing Your SLS Office and Ethical Considerations in Advertising; or Why Bottle Openers are Not the Best Bang for your Buck” The presentation was well received.

Susan Y. Hessee, a 1982 graduate of the University of Illinois College of Law, is in her twenty-second year as a program staff attorney. Hessee is a member of the Illinois and Michigan Bar Associations. She is active with the Champaign County Bar Association, Health Care Consumers, Planned Parenthood, and the American Civil Liberties Union. A member of St. John the Divine Episcopal Church, she is member of the choir and serves on the Discernment Committee.
Mary Ann Midden graduated from Southern Illinois University at Carbondale’s Law School in 1979 and started practicing law that year. She is in her third year as a staff attorney. She received her Bachelor of Arts at College of St. Benedict in 1975, and Master in Library Science from the University of Illinois in 1992. She is a member of the Champaign County Mental Health Board, and Treasurer of the Champaign County Humane Society, among other community activities.

In 2009, all of the staff attorneys attended the Annual Education Conference of the National Legal Aid and Defender’s Association, Student Legal Services Division, in San Diego, California, received required continuing legal education credits on topics unique to Student Legal Service programs. The staff attorneys appreciate the financial commitment of the Program to provide for Illinois Mandatory Continuing Legal Education, which assists staff on a daily basis in counseling the student clients.

FULFILLING THE MISSION

The Student Legal Service Plan of 1978 has a three-part mission:

1. Preventive legal education,

2. Provide legal counseling and advice, and

3. Representation.

Each aspect of the original mission is being fulfilled as described below:

A. Preventive Legal Education

The Staff have made major long-term commitment to preventive legal education. There are more than 42,000 students at the Urbana-Champaign campus who face various legal problems and concerns. With three staff attorneys, it is not feasible to see each and every student that has a legal issue. Substantial resources are dedicated to preventing problems before they arise. Our website at www.odos.illinois.edu/sls contains material on how to use the office, large sections on housing/landlord-tenant issues, and all 41 of our current brochures, which can easily be downloaded by students. Our website remains the most comprehensive Student Legal Service web site in the United States. We regularly update content and put out warnings to students regarding changes in the law or applicable practices, such as during Spring Break when travel to certain destinations may pose increased risks according the State Department. This reporting period, there have been 25,283 pageviews, representing 9,308 visits, on the site as counted by Google Analytics. See Appendix A.

Our most popular areas are “Schedule an Appointment”, including intake forms (4,711); “General Information” sections (4,511); and Tenant & Housing Information” pages (3,468), after the main page (7,138). The web site has received strong usage, which accounts for reduced use of the office for consultation on routine questions. Further, a new email account, studentlegalservice@illinois.edu, which is monitored by Office Support, has been set up and students are directed to brochures and other sources for routine questions.

Staff attorneys participated in 27 speaking engagements on various topics. The office publishes 41 brochures and two booklets; see pages 24 and 25. The office was mentioned in six articles in The Daily Illini, and one in The News Gazette, and our “Spring Break – Mexico” ad appeared in an NBC Nightly News story on spring break warnings for Mexico. The office appeared in several online venues, including The Washington Post, for which Director Thomas Betz guest-authored the March 15, 2010, “Campus Overload” blog; The Huffington Post March 16, 2010, blog posting in which Mr. Betz was quoted; and The Chicago Sun-Times, both online and print editions for March 16, 2010, in an article about spring break dangers, in which our Daily Illini print ad was mentioned. Mr. Betz’ piece published in The Washington Post “Campus Overload” blog was also published, with minor text edits, in the Daily Illini. A comprehensive list of all of these is on page 27, and the articles and blog are in Appendix D; however, the contents of the two online articles are not included due to copyright concerns.

Once again, “Unofficial St. Patrick’s Day” took place on campus. This year it was on Friday, March 5th. The office placed two preventive education advertisements in the Daily Illini, run alternately through the week prior to “unofficial”, a banner ad on www.dailyillini.com which ran through the week of “unofficial”, alternating with other ads, and 30-second spots on WPGU-FM related to underage drinking, keg laws, and the dangers of “Unofficial St. Patrick’s Day”. The ads may be heard in the “WPGU Ads” link at: www.odos.illinois.edu/sls/brochureAds/index.html. In 2010, 265 students, compared to 328 in 2009, from U of I and other campuses received state and local charges as a result of the “unofficial” enforcement action with the vast majority of the cases being for alcohol offenses by minors. The staff would like to continue to use similar radio outreach in the next reporting period, despite budgetary pressures.

The office ran 23 preventive advertisements, a total of 55 ad placements, in the Daily Illini (see Appendix B), and a full-page ad in the I-Book planner (see Appendix C). A table of all ads and their print dates is on pages 22 and 23. The overall goal of preventive legal education is to inform students of their rights and responsibilities as well as making them aware of legal options available to them. Each year, this aspect of the program has grown and is one of the most cost-effective uses of the SORF allocation.

We had two items for distribution this year for Quad Day. We stuffed plastic tote bags imprinted with Student Legal Service information with chip/bag clips, which are imprinted with Student Legal Service and Tenant Union urls, and copies of our program brochure. We distributed approximately 4,000 stuffed bags. Throughout the year, students positively commented to staff about receipt of this information. For quad Day 2010, we will again have chip clips with attached magnets along with the orange plastic tote bags.

Because of the increase of parents contacting Student Legal Service, often as the first contact, staff created a new brochure, “Why would my student need a lawyer? What parents need to know,” which has been posted on our website, provided to the Mom’s and Dad’s Association office, and widely distributed at “Admitted Students Day” events, at “New Student Orientation/Registration” events, and the “President’s Awards Program Fair” event, at which many parents are present.

The mission goal of preventive education is being fulfilled and being renewed each year by new and creative approaches.

B. Legal Counseling and Advice

Twenty-four years ago, it was unusual for staff attorneys to interact with a student client’s parent. In the past several years, staff are dealing with parents on a daily basis, which has required regular use of confidentiality waivers, as well as staff time. Much of the parental involvement has been positive for students, although so-called “helicopter parents” occasionally need to be counseled to permit their students to experience the legal issue with less parental involvement.

A total of 1,380 students had in-office consultations with staff attorneys and 351 students utilized our Notary services. Of the 1,380 consultations, 410 were formally opened for more extensive representation. One hundred eighty-one students received advice in Housing/ Landlord-tenant issues, 231 in Traffic, 58 in criminal matters, 119 in City ordinance matters, 33 in Family issues, and 348 in a wide variety of other issues. In-office consultation is a vital aspect of the office in that much of the time it seems to prevent students from making very costly civil and even criminal mistakes. Prior to having large parties, students frequently consult with the staff regarding local alcohol, noise and nuisance rules, which acts to deter the individual violations and by word of mouth, other potential infractions.
Housing/Landlord-tenant remains at the heart of the civil mission of the Program. The staff routinely review leases for illegalities and for purposes of enforcing lease provisions consistent with state and local law. Evictions for non-payment of rent are common as are evictions for alleged tenant violations of various terms of lease agreements, which may or may not be lawful. Habitability of rental property remains a concern although much of the substandard rental property has left the market in recent years due to code enforcement and new multi-unit construction. Repair issues remain a regular and consistent consultation aspect of housing issues.

Attorneys continue to encourage alternatives to litigation, such as mediation and other out-of-court settlement approaches.

Our office use of 1,731 is a 5% decrease over the previous reporting period. This is within the normal range over the past ten years. The ten year average is 1,929.9 and this year’s total is 18% lower than average. The web site answers many basic questions for students, and thus in-office use of services is expected to continue to decrease slightly in coming years.

Another factor in the decreased usage of the office was a change in the method of requesting a refund of the SORF, and other, fees, which was heavily advertised to students through media. Previously, students had to go to the student cashiers during specific refund periods and wait in line to request the refund, and were required to sign an informed consent detailing what resources would no longer be available to a student taking the refund. With the new procedure, which is done online, there is no informed consent to read or electronically sign. Students may physically go to the student cashier to effect refund of fees, but there is no longer an informed consent to sign.

For the Fiscal Years 2005 through 2009, SORF refunds for the three semesters, Fall, Spring and Summer, averaged 1,910. For FY 2010, Fall and Spring only, as the Summer refund date has been changed to after July 1, totaled 8,694, more than 2005-2009 combined. This represents a dramatic increase, which was very noticeable in the SLS office. In the past, each semester, the SLS office would turn away a handful of students each semester for having refunded the SORF fee. In Spring 2010, the SLS office turned away ten in one day, and dozens more during the semester.

C. Representation

Extensive litigation is not feasible, given the small staff, the current budget, and the volume of usage; however, basic litigation is provided in housing matters where students are being evicted, seeking habitability code enforcement, and the return of their damage/security deposits. Local landlords are keenly aware of the program’s litigation power and therefore do not ignore our non-litigation efforts on behalf of tenants. The litigation power is a profound deterrent against unlawful seizure of damage deposits, lockouts, and invasion of privacy.

In the area of traffic law and criminal misdemeanors, in-court representation is often a necessity. Traffic Court in Champaign County can be extremely difficult for the lay person to navigate and for our population of international students; it is confusing if not labyrinthine. The office provided representation in 177 new traffic matters, closing a total of 173 traffic cases, 37 being dismissed and 117 pleading to lesser charges or receiving court supervision.

In most misdemeanor cases, there is a constitutional right to counsel and for the student body, the office fills this function. This reporting period we provided representation in 37 new misdemeanor cases, closing a total of 45 misdemeanor cases with 17 being dismissed as a result of representation.

Given limited resources and time constraints, the representational mission is being fulfilled by the program.

CONCLUSION

The three mission goals of the Student Legal Service Plan are being met and exceeded in every aspect.
We are in the third year of our WestLaw contract. The Advisory Board needs to budget for a likely minimum 6% increase in the cost of the service.

This year is the 32nd anniversary of Student Legal Service at the University of Illinois. The program is an outstanding resource for the student body and is regarded by peers in the National Student Legal Service community as one of the best programs in the country. Three decades have not diminished the need for or purpose of the program.

Fulfilling the mission is an ongoing process with every enrolling class. The staff appreciate the insight and guidance of the Student Legal Service Advisory Board, the financial support of the Student Organization Resource Fee Board, and the students who pay the fee that allows them access to the services. We look forward to the continued support of the Board of Trustees and entire University community in the 2010-2011 academic year.

Respectfully submitted:

Student Legal Service Advisory Board
Minutes of the October 30, 2009, Meeting

Members Present: Dean Ballom, J. Steven Beckett, Christina Brunka, Caitlin Griffin, Ruth McCauley, Scott Rice, Reza Shiftehfar

Members Absent: Bomy Kim, Natalia Santillan

Attorneys Present: Thomas Betz, Susan Y. Hessee, Mary Ann Midden

The meeting came to order at 8:40 a.m.

Ruth McCauley presented the history and purpose of Student Legal Service to the new Advisory Board. Changes are anticipated this year despite changes in Administration. The Board of Trustees created Student Legal Service and the Tenant Union with the Student Organization Resource Fee created to fund them. The Plan is thirty years old and SORF funding is entwined but no longer really applies. The key wording “indigent” is in the plan but students are “voluntarily indigent” so this is not used as a criterion.
The attorneys have always been “independent contractors”, but this needs to be changed to make the attorneys University employees as the designation is not appropriate. Timing Trustee action this year will be important. Scott Rice said he feels this is a good time because he believes Acting-Chancellor Ikenberry is familiar with and supportive of Student Legal Service and other campuses are on board.

The refundable student fee process was significantly altered this year. In the past, each refundable fee had a separate, specific refund period to make it difficult, in order to discourage refunds, to support the original decision. This year the process changed so that one could get all refunds during a two-week period, despite Administration discouragement. SORF refunds have tripled this year.

In addition, the SORF Board decreased the SORF fee by $2.00 prior to receiving projected budgets from Student Legal Service or the Tenant Union. However, at this point it should not be a significant impact on the Student Legal Service budget.

The name of the fee, Student Organization Resource Fee, was always incorrect as it was created to fund Student Legal Service and the Tenant Union; money remaining after their budgets is given to student organizations. Over the next few meetings, a new plan will be presented.

Election of officers: Although the current Plan calls for the Chancellor to appoint a Chair for our Advisory Board, for the past ten years, the Advisory Board has elected its own Chair. Christina Brunka nominated herself for Chair; Steven Beckett seconded. Caitlin Griffin nominated herself for Secretary; Steven Beckett seconded. Reza Shiftehfar nominated himself for Vice Chair; Steven Beckett seconded. All were unanimously elected.

Minutes of the April 17, 2009, meeting were read. Steven Beckett moved they be approved; Scot Rice seconded. Motion passed unanimously.

Budget is deferred to the next meeting.

The 2009 Annual Report was presented. Steven Beckett moved that it be accepted; Caitlin Griffin seconded. Motion carried.

Tom Betz presented the Attorney’s Report. Website was noted as source for annual reports in the future, as well as Advisory Board reports when possible.

Expenditures of $40,794.57 were gone over. It was noted that related to painting the office suite that the union had withdrawn its bid and it was rebid privately; new office furniture had been bought to replace some of the furniture; a new heavy duty shredder was bought as the old shredder had handled approximately 300,000 pages representing three years of shredding over twenty years of closed files and advice-only intake forms as the office now keeps files a maximum of six years, all of which are kept in the office suite, rather than in remote storage. Scott Rice moved to approve the expenditures; Steve Beckett seconded; motion carried.

Office-use statistics were presented. Steven Beckett asked about any confusion due to changes in prosecutors and judges. This has not been a smooth transition, and students are required to attend court appearances with attorneys more frequently, and attorneys are required to appear in court more often. Steve Beckett moved to accept and place on file the statistics; Caitlin Griffin seconded; motion carried.
Website usage was then highlighted. It was noted that there is significant usage of the site internationally, by both students or prospective students from their home countries. The website has won an award and is probably tops in the nation. Beckee Bachman, our office assistant, makes it useful and is primarily responsible for it. Ruth McCauley noted the wide range of brochures provided by Student Legal Service, and that all are available on the website.

Tom Betz noted that Susan Hessee is working on a brochure for parents about our office explaining what the program can do for their students and the limits on the parents’ access to the information about the student and their use of the office.

It was noted that the ads Student Legal Service places in the Daily Illini and on WPGU-FM radio are intended to be preventive. The three objectives are prevention, advocacy and representation. It was also noted that housing issues are the focus of litigation in the office, although representation is provided in other areas.

Small tokens and gifts to the office or to attorneys from student-clients and others were disclosed and are listed in the materials for the meeting. Steven Beckett moved to approve acceptance of the gifts; Scott Rice seconded; motion carried.

Parliamentary procedure was reviewed by Steven Beckett. He noted that big issues will likely be coming up in meetings this year so there will probably be amendments to motions, and they may not always be unanimous.

December 4, 2009, at 8:30 a.m. was set for the next meeting in the same location.

The meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,

Mary Ann Midden, Secretary, Pro Tempore

Student Legal Service Advisory Board
Minutes of the December 4, 2009, Meeting

Members Present: Christina Brunka, Bomy Kim, Ruth McCauley, Scott Rice, Reza Shiftehfar

Members Absent: J. Steven Beckett, Caitlin Griffin, Natalia Santillan,

Attorneys Present: Thomas Betz, Susan Y. Hessee, Mary Ann Midden

The meeting was called to order at 8:47am. There was noted a correction to the agenda, changing the date to December 4, 2009. Scott Rice moved to approve the minutes of the October 30, 2009, meeting; Ruth McCauley seconded; motion approved unanimously; minutes are received and placed on file.
Treasurer’s Report  The “proposed” budget distributed is the actual budget. Balances show the budget is in good shape, but there is not much cash forward. The office can afford to employ a 20-hour-per-week student employee.

It was hoped to put the Revised Student Legal Service Plan on the January agenda for the Board of Trustees, but the Chicago Chancellor needs to be brought up to speed, so it will have to wait for the March meeting. SLS will create a contract for services with SORF without SORF having any final say on the budget. It is hoped the Agreement will provide for a percent of the SORF funds collected to be used for SLS and the Tenant Union. The remainder would be administered by the SORF Board.

Ruth McCauley moved to accept the budget; Scott Rice seconded; motion passed unanimously.

Attorneys’ Report

Expenditures  Scott Rice moved to approve the expenditures of $6,331.22; Reza Shiftehfar seconded; motion passed unanimously.

Web Usage  It is noteworthy that our website is now probably the best in the country. Students should soon be able to submit forms online.

Revised brochure, “Your Court Appearance” outlines directions for students important to appearing in court.

Series of Ads in December through February being prepared for while Beckee Bachman will be out of the office. Scott Rice moved to approve the ads; Ruth McCauley seconded; motion passed unanimously.

It was noted that it has been a good semester overall.

Office Statistics  In-office statistics down slightly in October, partly due to increased use of the website and partly due to law enforcement; there have been fewer major bar raids. Urbana is up due to a ant for three years to enforce liquor ordinance.

Ruth McCauley noted that there will be some major fines and penalties for a bar scramble in October. It was also noted that bar owners do not want the cities or the county to prohibit video poker. Tom Betz sees an impact on SLS, if it is not prohibited. He believes it will move into campus bars if not prohibited. He noted that SLS has already seen a number of clients with gambling issues/problems.

The conference in Santa Barbara, California, was discussed. Tom Betz and Mary Ann Midden will do a one-hour presentation on SLS office outreach, brochures, making presentations to groups, and other ways to promote the office on campuses.

Beckee Bachman will be out on medical leave for four to six weeks; an extra help person will be employed for the time. Due to the closure of the Illini Union building for over a week during winter break, the extra help person will only be needed a few weeks.

Ruth McCauley has had more requests lately from students not assessed the fee for services, e.g., graduate students with zero credit hours while doing thesis or dissertation work. If a student obtained a refund, there will be a no, but if it is early in the semester, the student can go and pay the fee. This time of year is too late to pay it. Ruth McCauley will try come up with guidelines for approval. Tom Betz noted that parents have been upset because students have obtained the refunds. Scott Rice suggested sending these students to see Ruth McCauley; she agreed and will recommend a way to handle it.
The next meeting will not be scheduled until early next semester when new class schedules have been obtained.

Ruth McCauley moved to adjourn the meeting; Scott Rice seconded; meeting adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,

Student Legal Service Advisory Board
Minutes of the March 23, 2010, Meeting

Members Present:  J. Steven Beckett, Christina Brunka, Caitlin Griffin, Ruth McCauley, Scott Rice

Members Absent:  Bomy Kim, Reza Shiftehfar

Attorneys Present:  Thomas Betz, Susan Y. Hessee, Mary Ann Midden

The meeting was called to order at 5:05 pm. Steve Beckett moved to approve the minutes of the December 4, 2009, meeting; Scott Rice seconded; motion approved unanimously; minutes are received and placed on file.

Treasurer’s Report  Ruth McCauley reported that SORF Board wants a report on where we are at, and Ruth will prepare and submit one, hopefully by March 12. She will distribute the report to the Board. Only $150,000.00 of the $300,000.00 budget has been received from the SORF Board to date; additionally $46,000.00 in funds had been rolled over from the past.

Discussion continued with agenda item #5, the Attorney Conversion. The SORF fee structure needs to be changed. It has evolved since 1978, and no longer matches the original intent; originally the fee was intended to fund SLS and tenant services. It seems the SORF Board is losing sight of this and some changes need to be explained to the SORF Board.

The SORF fee will likely be converted to reduce it to the SORF fee for their items and the Office of Dean of Students non-refundable fee which would funds SLS and the Tenant Union. Steve Beckett asked whether an Advisory Board would still be used. All of the units of the Office of Dean of Students have advisory boards, and nationwide, SLS programs have advisory boards. The Advisory Board will remain necessary and important.

Refunds of the SORF fee are an issue this year. All refundable fee refund periods have been compiled into one two-week period, and all fees are refundable at the same time. In the last eight office days, sixteen of the students who had contacted the office had received refunds and were thus ineligible. Of these, fourteen of the refunds were done by parents, according to the students. Part of the change in SLS will be a non-refundable fee as part of the Office of Dean of Students. Currently, once the fee is refunded, it cannot be undone and no services can be provided.
Treasurer’s report was received. Steve Beckett moved to accept the report; Scott Rice seconded; the motion was approved unanimously.

Attorneys’ Report It was (erroneously) reported that SLS has gone live for setting appointments on the web. (Correction: Filling out and submitting intake forms went live for a day, when glitches were encountered, and tables within the database had to be reconfigured. Several issues have arisen since then, and work is continuing on getting everything working smoothly. It is hoped that the system will go live soon, but at this time, making the actual appointments online is not being considered.)

Web numbers are going well.

Expenditures were reviewed. Steve Beckett moved to approve them; Ruth McCauley seconded; motion was approved unanimously.

February numbers were received. Scott Rice moved to accept them; Steve Beckett seconded; the motion carried unanimously.

Scott Rice mentioned that he likes the ad notification emails; others agreed.

Tom Betz reviewed some of the presentations made recently to student groups. Doing more fraternities and sororities is up this year and more enjoyable. A suggested source for presentations is the class “University 101” type classes – 1 hour credit for freshmen. Each college has a one hour credit mandatory class – look for these in the course catalog under “99” class.

Tom Betz mentioned again that SLS provides materials to the courtrooms at the request of Judges.

There is a new email on the website for contacting SLS – studentlegalservice@illinois.edu.

SLS does have a work-study person now, and she is a great help in the office.

SLS needs to reprint 4 or 5 brochures in the next few months. Scott Rice moved to approve payment for these; Steve Beckett seconded; motion was approved unanimously.

Tom Betz notified the Advisory Board of increased copier costs that will be coming. There is no need to approve these now.

Thank-you gifts were received by the office: Tulips - <$10; Wooden box with two dark chocolate bars - $15.00, 3 individual chocolate squares - $2.25. Steve Beckett moved to accept the gifts; Ruth McCauley seconded; the motion passed unanimously.

The next meeting is set for April 15, 2010, 5:00 p.m. A room will be arranged.

Scott Rice moved to adjourn the meeting; Steve Beckett seconded; the meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,

Mary Ann Midden, Secretary, Pro Tempore
At the Student Legal Service Advisory Board meeting scheduled for Thursday, April 15, 2010, there was not a quorum present.

Please respond to that email if you will be unable to attend the meeting so that we can be sure a quorum will attend. Please note that the last item allows the Executive Committee to act during the summer to avoid problems with lack of a quorum.

There are warnings again this year about travel to and in Mexico, especially border towns. Be careful!

1. If you are driving to your spring break destination, DO NOT stop or stay near the U.S./Mexico border as thousands have been killed in the drug wars.

2. Don't leave the resort area. Avoid areas of prostitution and drug dealing.

3. Do not attempt to buy drugs. Drugs are no more legal in Mexico than they are in the U.S.

4. Remember what happened to Natalie Holloway on spring break in Aruba. If you're going to drink, be safe!

5. Make sure you're sober before departure time. Airlines can refuse to allow you to board if you are intoxicated.

Have a safe and fun spring break!

BEWARE: “unofficial” St. Patrick’s Day

Drinking until you see Leprechauns can get you a Disorderly Conduct charge and a Public Intoxication fine of $310 each. Carrying an open drink outside will result in a fine of at least $145.00, and possible other charges.

If you are <21 and are convicted of purchasing or possessing ANY amount of alcohol, your driver’s license will be suspended for 1 year, in addition to a fine up to $310.00.

Using another Leprechaun’s ID will cost you AND the other person your driver’s licenses and up to a year in jail.

A DUI can get you a revocation (loss) of your license for 1 year (2 yrs. if <21), jail time up to 1 year, and a fine of $2,500.00. You will also have to install a breath alcohol interlock ignition device in your car OR wear an alcohol-monitoring ankle bracelet to get your license back at the end of the revocation or any suspension.

University sanctions WILL be applied for any of the above. Student Discipline WILL contact you.

Remember, disrupting classes can get you dismissed from the university!

Congratulations
Class of 2010!!

NOW THAT YOU'VE GRADUATED, ARE YOU MOVING?

STEP 1. Call the owner or manager two weeks before you move out to arrange a joint inspection of the apartment. Be sure to clean your apartment completely and have all belongings removed before your appointment time.

STEP 2. Before the appointment, prepare a complete written inventory of the condition of the rental unit. Be very detailed and specific for each room. Have two copies of the inventory, and keep one after having the landlord sign it. Forms are available at the Tenant Union.

STEP 3. Get a camera/video camera and a witness. A witness should be 18 or older, NOT a roommate or family member. Take lots of pictures that show how clean you left the apartment. Walk through your apartment with your witness and have him/her take notice of its condition. (Advantage: video camera includes narration.) Also, make sure your pictures and your witness take note of the condition of the oven, refrigerator, kitchen area, and bathroom. Also, show that the walls and carpet are clean and undamaged. You and your witness should both sign and date your inventory in front of a notary.

STEP 4. If the landlord appears for the appointment, be sure to have him/her sign and date YOUR COPY of the inventory form. Be sure to use a witness and the video camera.

STEP 5. Be sure that you return ALL keys to the apartment, mailbox, laundry room, etc. Return them in person and get a receipt to avoid being charged for lock changes. Have one person in your group be responsible for returning all keys.

STEP 6. If you sublet your apartment for the summer, return at the end of the sublease period to follow these procedures with your subtenant. If s/he wrecks the place, it could cost you.

STEP 7. If you have doubts or questions about your deposit being returned, come to Student Legal Service now and set up an appointment to meet with an attorney. You have only until Summer II starts to use Student Legal Service after you graduate. If you do later have problems with your deposit refund, you can call and talk to the attorney you consulted with while you were still eligible.

STEP 8. Step into some money. Use your money to treat yourself to a reward for completing your degree!!

Visit our table at the Housing Fair, Sept. 28th.

6 Steps Before Signing a Lease

1. Read the lease! Your rights and obligations are governed by the lease. There is little law that protects you as a tenant, so you must protect yourself!

2. Get it in writing! If you want the place painted, want notice before the landlord enters your apartment, etc., you must have this written into the lease. If it's not in writing, you are out of luck.

3. Know the complaint history of the landlord! Check the history with the Tenant Union at 326 Illini Union. You can easily rent from a landlord with no complaints. Don't settle for one with a bad complaint history!

4. Don't sign a lease for a building that hasn't been built yet! This is not a safe matter what the landlord promises to induce you to sign.

5. Know your prospective roommate(s)! Be sure no semester abroad or wedding is looming. If you're roommate leaves and doesn't pay, you are stuck!

6. Be sure before you sign! Once you sign the lease, you cannot get out of it without serious consequences!

NOTE: No advice is given over the phone. You must come in to the office with your I-card and fill out an intake form (or fill out on our website and print) before you can make an appointment, which will be on a different day. No walk-in or same-day appointments.

BEFORE you take off for THANKSGIVING BREAK
(November 21-29, 2009)

1. Don’t shut off the heat in your apartment! Thanksgiving break can get cold in Central Illinois, which can lead to frozen pipes and major destruction. Check your lease or with your landlord for what temperature you should maintain; leave the thermostat at least 2° higher than what the landlord recommends. Tenants in the past have been billed as much as $14,000 for frozen pipes and the resulting damage!

2. Lock all doors and windows. Double check before you leave! Using a pass key is a common means of breaking in, but locked doors keep some honest.

3. Get renter’s insurance and/or take your valuables with you. Fall break is a prime time for burglars. If you can’t afford insurance, take your valuables with you! Don’t leave your laptop, i-pod, camera, game systems, etc. in your apartment!

4. Inventory your personal items which have a quick sale value. Keep a written list of serial numbers of TVs, stereos, CD player, etc. If a theft takes place, this information can help police investigate. Brand your CDs!

5. Don’t leave your car on the street while you’re on break. Streets are routinely plowed/cleaned during breaks. Your car will be towed and/or ticketed and unavailable when you return to campus. You can expect a minimum charge of $120 to rescue your vehicle.

Tips for Winter Break

Before you leave for a hard-earned winter break, PLEASE:

Keep the heat on in your apartment! Turning off your heat or turning it down too low can lead to frozen pipes and major destruction. Check your lease for what temperature you are to maintain and set your thermostat at least two degrees higher. Tenants have been billed in the past — for frozen pipes and resulting damage — as much as $14,000.00!

Lock all doors and windows. A common means of breaking into apartments is using a pass key, but locked doors keep some honest.

Inventory your personal items which have a quick sale value. Keep a written list of serial #s of TVs, stereos, CD players, game systems, etc. If you are robbed, this information can help police investigate.

Make sure you have renter's insurance. Winter break is prime time for burglars. If you don't have insurance, take your valuables with you!

Don't leave your car parked on the street while you are gone on break. Streets are routinely plowed/cleaned during break. Your car will be towed/ticketed and unavailable when you return. Expect a minimum charge of $120 to rescue your vehicle, plus daily storage fees.

Check your lease — Pay January Rent before you leave. If you plan to return after January 1st (classes resume Jan. 19th), you may accrue 19 days of late charges. Pre-pay your rent!

   REALITY: Errors that can be corrected are not loopholes.

8. They didn't read me my rights, so anything I said will be thrown out in court.
   REALITY: Generally, police don't have to mirandize you unless (A) you're in custody AND (B) they start to question you.

7. I was just going with the flow of traffic so I shouldn't have gotten a ticket.
   REALITY: If you're speeding, you're speeding, regardless of what the rest of traffic is doing.

6. If I want out of my lease, the landlord has to let me.
   REALITY: A lease is a binding contract enforceable by both landlord and tenant.

5. If I cooperate with authorities and inform on my drug dealer, they won't press charges against me.
   REALITY: Police are allowed to do a lot of things to encourage you to assist them, including lying to you and getting you to incriminate yourself. Don't believe it!

4. I didn't know my drivers license was suspended, OR that I was speeding, OR that I couldn't turn right on red here/do a u-turn here, etc.
   REALITY: Almost every traffic violation in Illinois is one of strict liability. What you knew, intended, or believed is completely irrelevant.

3. I have 72 hours to cancel a lease I sign.
   REALITY: Once you have signed a lease, it is binding contract.

2. I'll get out of this ticket because the cop won't show up to court.
   REALITY: In Champaign County, Illinois, the court date on your ticket is NOT the trial date. Once a trial date is set, the cops get notice and they always show up.

1. If I sublet my apartment/space in my apartment, I don't have any more responsibility for the apartment.
   REALITY: You remain liable for all rent and utilities if the sublessee fails to pay, and any damages.

Vigilance key to avoiding break-in

BY SELMA HAVERIC
STAFF WRITER

Students who will leave campus for a month or more over winter break can take several precautions to ensure their apartments stay in good condition during their absence.

Esther Patt, coordinator of the Tenant Union, said students should never turn the heat off during winter break, no matter what the outside temperature. She said pipes freeze and break every year as a result of bitter cold Champaign-Urbana weather. Some landlords require that tenants set their thermostats to a specific temperature, she added.

"The landlord can bill you for the damage. It's thousands of dollars," Patt said.

In addition to making sure pipes continue to function over break, students should be aware of the threat of burglary. Mary Resner, senior in Education, said her apartment was broken into over Thanksgiving break.

"It looked like they used a crowbar or something between our door frames. Because it was an older door, when you pushed on it there was enough leeway to get in," she said.

Resner estimates that between $500 and $800 worth of goods were stolen, including an iPod and an iPod dock. Thomas E. Betz, directing attorney for Student Legal Services, said every criminal knows that campus is nearly empty during winter break.

Patt said students should make their apartments appear as if they are occupied. She said students are advised to pack and take home any valuables over break.

Armed assault, robbery reported on campus

A home invasion involving assault and robbery on Wednesday has been confirmed by Champaign police.

According to a press release from the Champaign Chief of Police, RT Finney, the invasion occurred Wednesday at approximately 4:45 a.m. on the 500 block of East Healey Street.

The press release stated that the suspects were armed as they entered an apartment.

One of the residents was struck in the nose. The suspects fled from the scene after taking various electronics.

The release described the suspects as two black males in ski masks; one was tall, wearing a green sweatshirt and the other was short, wearing a gray sweatshirt.

According to JSM Management, the owner of the property, the residents were being followed before the invasion and robbery. JSM and police encourage residents to use extreme caution when traveling through campus and to report any suspicious activity.

Champaign and University police will increase patrol in the area.

APARTMENT

Students can do this simply by buying timers for the lights in their apartment.

"If there are three apartments in a building that have their lights on, it is unlikely that a burglar would go there if they can go to a dark one," Patt said.

She also advises students not to simply leave their lights on non-stop over break since it can actually be an indication to burglars that nobody is home.

Resner said she and her roommates are going to buy timers to ensure that what happened over Thanksgiving break does not happen again this winter.

Patt also suggested that students get renter's insurance.

Although many students are covered by their parents' insurance—Resner and her roommates are—Betz still encourages students to buy renter's insurance. Betz said it is easy to obtain and costs about $100 to $150 a year.

The holidays are the prime season for break-ins, and students who are not covered are taking a risk, Betz said.

"You're playing roulette," he said.

Landlords are not insurers of their tenants' goods. Unless the robbery resulted from landlord negligence, he or she is not responsible for any property lost or damaged, Betz said.

Tony Ortiz, crime prevention officer for the University, also suggested that students take their money, jewelry and important documents home or lock them in a safety deposit box.

Betz said he believes students become better at keeping their apartments safe as they get more information.

"Students have become aware that it's the season (for break-ins to occur)," he said.
The time is almost here for students to begin thinking about where they want to call home next fall.

While this can seem like an overwhelming task, there are services like the University of Illinois Tenant Union and Student Legal Services, both located on the third floor of the Union, that can aid in the process.

"Start at the Tenant Union, that will save you a lot of time if you just start your search with us," said Esther Patt, coordinator of the Tenant Union.

The Tenant Union provides four basic services that are essential to future tenants: help finding an apartment, lease review, landlord complaint records and resolution of landlord-tenant conflicts, she said.

"We’ll help with any problem to whatever extent we can," Patt said. "But we’re so much more successful, and it’s so much easier to prevent problems."

Reviewing landlord complaint records through the Tenant Union can help prevent future problems, she added.

"Pick a good landlord, that’s 95% percent of having a successful housing situation," she said.

Matt Popielarczyk, junior in LAS, said he had an unsuccessful experience renting an apartment last year and students should begin at the Tenant Union.

"I never went to the Tenant Union so that was my fault" said Popielarczyk. "I was kind of pushed into it by friends last minute."

An additional service that future student tenants can utilize is UIUC Student Legal Services, which provides legal assistance for students in a wide range of subject matters including housing problems and sometimes works with the Tenant Union, Patt said.

"Students have usually seen the Tenant Union first," said Thomas E. Betz, director and attorney at the Student Legal Services. "We tend to see the students that need a lawyer rather than just advice, and sometimes it goes a little beyond the capacity of the Tenant Union."

Most issues can be prevented before they even begin by working with the Tenant Union from the start, but when problems do occur, students can utilize the benefits of Student Legal Services.

There is a misconception that students need to rush into a lease agreement before all of the housing opportunities are rented out, which causes most of the problems, Patt said. According to Betz there is property in Champaign and Urbana that remains empty throughout the school year.

"I think students start shopping way too early," Betz said. "The assumption is that there is not enough property out there."
This rented life
Champaign County has tens of thousands of tenants

By PAM G. DEMPSEY
and LINDSAY IGNATOWSKI
For The News-Gazette

Rental property is big business in Champaign County.

With nearly 35,300 units, Champaign County has the highest percentage of occupied rental housing units among the state’s metropolitan counties, according to 2008 Census Bureau estimates.

Yet rental inspection programs are inconsistent across the county — with stark differences between programs in the cities of Champaign and Urbana and, except for Rantoul, little to no oversight elsewhere.

The inspections are designed to ensure that rental properties — which include non-owner-occupied single-family houses, duplexes and apartment-style buildings — comply with fire safety codes as well as city and national maintenance and building codes.

But interviews with city officials and a review of county and city records show that:

— Nearly 4,800 residential rental properties — 47 percent of the county’s total rental properties — are not subject to inspection. Just over 3,550 of those properties are in Champaign alone. The rest are in the county, which has no inspection program.

— When violations are discovered, landlords in Champaign and Urbana are routinely given months to make repairs.

— Landlords are rarely fined for violations, even after their cases are sent to the cities’ legal departments for further action.

Housing advocates say low-income tenants — who make up more than half the renters in the county — are especially vulnerable because they don’t always understand their legal rights or have the financial resources to resolve even basic housing problems such as bad plumbing, roof problems or lack of smoke detectors.

Esther Patt, director of the Champaign-Urbana Tenant Union, says the current systems are tilted in favor of landlords. Tenants have limited options to resolve housing violations, she said, while landlords are given several.

On the plus side, Patt said, many landlords make repairs as soon as a tenant reports a problem, and they work quickly to resolve code violations.

In many ways, though, “tenants are treated like second-class citizens,” she said. “It’s really as though (officials) believe that people who rent housing are not entitled to the

About the C-U Citizen Access series

This report is part of a joint project of The News-Gazette and the University of Illinois Department of Journalism in an ongoing examination of poverty and its related issues in Champaign County.

The project is funded by the Marajen Stevick Foundation, a private foundation that serves the local community; a matching grant from the John S. and James L. Knight Foundation, a journalism foundation based in Miami; and contributions from the UI.

The project also has launched a Web site for this and other material, including user-generated content. It can be found at www.cu-citizenaccess.org.

About this story

This is the first of three parts. These stories were written by Pam G. Dempsey and Lindsay Ignatowski, both of the University of Illinois.

Today: Champaign County has tens of thousands of rental units.

More coverage, A-4-5.

Monday: Big differences between Champaign and Urbana on rental inspections.

Tuesday: Emergency housing limited, especially for families.

blessings of liberty that homeowners consider their birthright."

Andrew Timms, vice president of the Central Illinois Apartment Association and owner of Spectra ART Enterprises, a property management company, disagreed. Tenants have adequate outlets to resolve housing problems, he said.

"It's simplifying the forces and issues (in regards to) providing safe housing to say it's tilted one side or another," Timms said.

Landlords are often stigmatized as villains, he said, but the "overwhelming majority" contribute positively to the community.

Champaign City Council member Tom Bruno thinks local government should have only a limited role in resolving tenant-landlord disputes. He said rental housing is a private transaction between consenting adults and should be treated the same as owner-occupied residences.

"Government doesn't necessarily need to be the vehicle that steps into the relationship between consenting adults and baby-sits the tenant," Bruno said. "How aggressive should the government be in playing a role in private contractual relationships, also known as a lease?"

'Not a lot of good affordable housing'

College students and low-income residents make up the bulk of the rental population in Champaign-Urbana, Patt said. The "overwhelming majority of tenants here are either poor or students, and these are not the people anyone cares about (because) they're perceived as not voting," she said.

An estimated 70,000 renters live in the county, and more than half of them live on less than $25,000 a year, according to 2006 Census data.

About 34,000 college students live off campus, according to data from the University of Illinois and the U.S. Census. There is no data to indicate exactly how many full-time students are renters.

Finding a place to live may be easier for students.

"Student rentals are very different from nonstudent rentals. The poor folks in this community are faced with a very different atmosphere," said Thomas Betz, director of the University of Illinois Student Legal Services, which advises students on issues such as traffic tickets, misdemeanors and landlord-tenant problems.

Students tend to have more money and may have parents who inspect rental properties before they sign a lease, said Betz, who also is a member of the Champaign County Board.

There's now an oversupply of rental units, but most are high-end properties with high-end rent, Betz said. Students have a much better rental market to choose from and can be selective, he said.

For the low-income nonstudent tenant, it's a "much rougher environment," he said. "There's not a lot of good affordable housing."

'Tenants who are afraid don't complain'

Finding a rental house or apartment may be more difficult for low-income tenants, especially those who might have previous evictions and little money saved for a deposit.

"If you've got bad credit and you have evictions, especially if you have a criminal background, there are consequences to that," said Sally Stocks Eissfeldt, owner of Property Management People and a board member of the Central Illinois Landlord Association.

Inspections may either help or hinder low-income tenants, said Betz, the director of the university Student Legal Services.

If there's a water leak under your sink and you can live with it, he said, "you're not going to call a housing inspector."

"You're not sure you want a housing inspection because if (they) close it down, where are you going to live?" Betz said.

Even tenants with no evictions or criminal records may find it difficult to secure a place because many landlords require tenants to have an income that is at least three times the rent, Patt said.
Half of the county's tenants pay more than 30 percent of their household income to rent, according to 2008 Census data.

"When you finally find some place that will rent to you and it isn't a total dump ... (you) sign the lease and be grateful for it is the attitude a lot of people have," Patt said.

When problems do arise, most low-income renters are reluctant to file a complaint because they fear the place might be condemned, she said.

Still others may not file a complaint if they are illegal immigrants, speak little to no English or have no other place to live if their unit is condemned, officials said.

"Tenants who are afraid don't complain," said Sue Salzman, Champaign's longtime property maintenance supervisor who retired last fall.

In some cases, though, a tenant complaint is necessary to spur a landlord to make repairs, said John Roska, an attorney with Land of Lincoln, a legal aid service for low-income tenants. "State law says as long as the situation is unsafe/uninhabitable, then the tenant can move out and hold the landlord liable," he said.

The law allows a tenant to move to a hotel or comparable apartment until the situation is repaired. The landlord may be responsible for the costs, but the tenant may have to pay those costs up front — money many low-income renters do not have, Roska said.

"It's a difficult proof process," he said. "And tenants have to give landlords some kind of notice."

Last May, more than 100 low-income tenants at Gateway Studios, 1505 N. Neil St., C., were forced out when the pay-by-the-week motel was condemned for lack of power and gas after its owners failed to pay more than $44,000 in utility bills.

Though many received their rent back, dozens of people did not have the money to find a new place. Cash-poor social service agencies were able to provide some emergency assistance, despite the drain on resources.

Both Urbana and Champaign city officials are now looking at ways to help tenants forced out of housing by condemnations and who have no other place to live.

Landlords face obstacles, too

Patt said enforcement remains an issue.

"Landlords know there are no consequences to not meeting the deadline (for repairs), and that is why a lot of them don't do it," she said.

If code violations are corrected within six months, Champaign-Urbana officials consider it a "victory," Patt said, "because they are looking at buildings, not people."

But for the tenant who has waited months for repairs, "that stinks," Patt said.

Yet city officials acknowledge that they prefer to work with landlords rather than fine them to resolve problems. Champaign City Council member Marci Dodds said it's important to remember that landlords and city inspectors are people, too.

"If a landlord shows good faith, the city will work with them," she said.

Many landlords need that extra time because they are still recovering from the recent economic downturn, Timms said.

In the current economy, few landlords can make repairs just on the rents they collect, he said, and finding contractors to do the required work can take "weeks, sometimes months."

"No two situations regarding building safety codes are going to be identical," Timms said.
Students should research consequences before waiving any student fees

BY JACK WEBBER
STAFF WRITER

Students have until Feb. 19 to collect up to $66 in refundable semester campus fees; but the costs of getting a refund could outweigh the benefits.

In room 100 of the Henry Administration Building, students can request refunds for seven campus fees when they present their I-card at the University Student Financial Services and Cashier Operations office.

According to the student financial services Web site, all refunds will be applied toward the student's University account. Any credit balance stemming from the refunded fee will go to the student's bank account via direct deposit, which students can set up through the online Enterprise system.

While signs outside the office inform students what these fees pay for, some on campus further explained that getting a refund could overshadow the benefits of the fees.

The Krannert fee is the highest refundable fee at $20. It allows the Krannert Center for the Performing Arts to offer students discounted tickets to all shows throughout the year.

"We would welcome a student that did not pay the fee to any show, but that fee provides a steep discount," said Bridget Lee-Calvo, public information director for Krannert. She added that the fee can sometimes pay for itself with the purchase of just one ticket. However, Jon Coraggio, freshman in Business, said he already refunded the Krannert fee because he has never attended an event at Krannert and does not plan to attend one this semester.

The $12 Student Organization Resource Fee, or SORF, supports Registered Student Organizations (RSOs), Student Legal Services and the Tenant Union, said SORF Board Chair Charles Blatti.

Blatti said if students are thinking about joining an RSO, they should be careful about refunding the fee, which helps pay for the organizations' travel, advertising and equipment.

"We're trying to use the money we give to RSOs as assistance, not as one hundred percent coverage," he said. "When we see you have not paid the fee—if you paid for the equipment, if you bought the advertisement—we cannot reimburse you.

Although Gabriela Pedroza, sophomore in LAS, refunded her SORF last semester, she said she is paying the fee this semester so she can afford a trip to India in the summer. She said the fee will allow her to be reimbursed for $300 of her travel expenses with International Impact, an RSO that takes students on service trips abroad.

Half of the SORF funds are given out to RSOs, Blatti said, while the other half is given to Student Legal Services and the Tenant Union.

"The most compelling reason to refuse the refund is because for that twelve dollars, you get legal advice and court representation for free," said Esther Patt, coordinator for the Tenant Union. She said Student Legal Services can help students that receive traffic tickets, underage drinking violations and other offenses without having to pay expensive legal fees. Patt said that the Tenant Union would also not be able to assist those students who refund the SORF.

"We cannot take a student's complaint or advocate on their behalf," she added. While the Krannert and SORF fees help the students that pay for them, other fees help students in need of financial assistance. The Legacy Scholarship fee is the second highest refundable fee at $15. The fee goes toward the Legacy of Service and Learning Scholarship, which provides financial aid to students with low and middle income backgrounds and may be renewed if the student completes 50 hours of community service every year.

In addition to campus fees, students are able to waive the Student Health Insurance Fee, which is $206 for undergraduates and $292 for graduates, until Feb. 22.

If students provide proof that they are covered under another insurance plan that provides comparable benefits, they do not have to pay the fee, said Donna Curtin, manager of the Student Health Insurance Office.

Curtin said if students waived the insurance fee during a previous semester, they are already exempt from the fee this semester and will not receive a refund. Proof of insurance can be presented at the Student Insurance Office, also in room 100 of the Henry Administration Building. fees toward Student Legal Services, the Tenant Union and Registered Student Organizations, or RSOs. This year 15 students are running for the eight spots; ten confirmed their candidacy to The Daily Illini.

Owais Ahmed, junior in LAS, is currently a member of SORF Board. In addition to running for student trustee this spring, he plans on running for his SORF Board position again.

Josh Gibbs, candidate and sophomore in DGS, said the best thing the newly elected members can do is to just continue as the board has the past few years.

"As long as everyone keeps doing their part on the board, hopefully the students will see a reflection of that, that the money from the SORF fee is being used in a correct way," he said.

Gibbs added that students should look for a candidate who can make unbiased decisions.

"They (students) should look for someone that they feel will be able to put their personal feelings aside and be objective in their decisions on the SORF Board," Gibbs said.

The SORF Board meets once a year to discuss allocations for the Tenant Union and Student Legal Service but meets regularly for allocations to RSOs.

Blatti said the process lasts about three weeks from processing applications from RSOs to allocating funds.

He added that RSOs submitted approximately 250 applications last semester requesting SORF funds. The majority of the funding goes toward things such as travel expenses for intramural teams and guest speakers for other groups.

Although the SORF Board only has the power to make recommendations to Renee Romanoff, vice chancellor of Student Affairs, Blatti said he could not recall a time when there was a disagreement.

"The entire purpose of the board is to make a recommendation," he said.

Bradley Beebe, candidate and senior in Business, said fiscal responsibility is the most important factor to consider when students are deciding which candidate to vote for.

"I want a little bit more fiscal responsibility with regards to where SORF allocates funds," Beebe said. "I think the students should just vote for the people they think will be the most responsible."

Candidate Mengyi Wang, sophomore in LAS, said she decided to run for SORF Board because she wants to see all the different organizations people are interested in and to play a role in the allocation of funds to those organizations.

"I want to reasonably allocate all the money we have to support the organizations as much as we can," she said.

SORF Board member Kris Koester, graduate student, is running for a spot on the board again this year.

"It shouldn't be necessarily a popularity contest but should be similar to if you're voting for a public official," Koester said. "I don't think it's just about clicking on who you hear the most about but it's about knowing what they stand for and making sure they're representative."
Many traveling from Chicago not changing their plans despite violence

BY KIM JANSSEN

Staff Reporters

The brutal weekend murders of two U.S. consulate workers and a relative in the Mexican border town of Ciudad Juarez have prompted the State Department to advise against unnecessary travel to northern Mexico.

Escalating drug wars — which last month brought an alleged Mexican cocaine kingpin to face trial in Chicago — are believed to have claimed the lives of consulate workers Jorge Alberto Salcido Ceniceros, 37; and Lesley A. Enriquez, 25; and Enriquez’s husband, Arthur H. Redelfs, 34.

Ceniceros’ children — aged 4 and 7 — were injured, but Enriquez’s 1-year-old daughter survived unhurt after suspected members of the Aztlan street gang shot at both families as they left a child’s party in two SUVs.

It’s not clear if they’d been targeted, or if so, why, according to FBI investigators aiding Mexican efforts to catch the killers.

The murders were condemned by Mexican President Felipe Calderon and President Obama, who was “deeply saddened and outraged,” the White House said.

With nearly 800 people killed in gang violence in Mexico this weekend, and 10,000 killed since Calderon declared war on drugs in 2007, Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said the “appalling” murders of members of her department were “sadly, part of a growing tragedy besetting many communities in Mexico.”

Most travelers heading to Mexico from Chicago on Monday said they were aware of a State Department travel warning affecting Mexico’s border states.

“I’m a little bit scared, but I’m going for work so I have no choice,” said engineer Dan Hughes, 45, who was flying to Monterrey from O’Hare Airport.

The University of Illinois used a print ad Monday to warn students planning a spring break in Mexico not to leave resorts or stop near the border.

And Loyola students heading to Ciudad Juarez on a school trip in May might have to stay on the U.S. side of the border in El Paso, Chaplain Patrick Evches said.

But in the heart of Chicago’s Mexican community, in Little Village, few changed their travel plans, travel agents said.

On most days, around 25 people take the noon bus to Mexico at Turimex International, 2139 S. California. The same number went Monday, staff said.

At Damen Travel, 10 passengers were headed to Mexico on Monday night. “They want to make sure that they arrive in Mexico in the daytime so they can make their connecting trips in daylight, because traveling in the night can be scary,” office manager Fran Stankovich said.

Chicago Sun-Times
At Damon Travel, Fran Staankovich says passengers are trying to time their trips to arrive in Mexico in the daytime.

DETAILS ON MEXICAN GANGS INVOLVED IN BORDER VIOLENCE

Sinaloa Cartel: Founded by Pedro Aviles Perez in the late 1980s. Pioneered use of aircraft to smuggle drugs to U.S.

Los Zetas: Founded by assassins who deserted Mexican Army. U.S. government says it is “the most technologically advanced, sophisticated and dangerous cartel operating in Mexico.” Trains teams to enter U.S. to kill rival drug operations here.

Beltran-Leyva: Launders drug money through hotels and restaurants. In 2009, Mexican authorities killed Arturo Beltran-Leyva, the “chief of chiefs,” using intelligence reports supplied by U.S. DEA.

La Familia: Opposes sales of drugs to Mexicans but is the biggest supplier of methamphetamine to the U.S. A quasi-religious sect, its leader, known as El Mas Loco, carries a “bibie” containing his own sayings.

Gulf Cartel: Founded in the 1970s by Juan Nepomuceno Guerra, a bootlegger who got his start smuggling whisky during Prohibition.

Juarez Cartel: Controls one of the primary routes into U.S. In 1997, then-leader Amado Carrillo-Fuentes died after extensive plastic surgery.

How to stay out of trouble on spring break

Thomas E. Betz is the director of University of Illinois Student Legal Service on its Urbana-Champaign campus -- and answers lots of questions from students about spring break.

It is that time of year again when college students seek warmer climates. There are at least four "S" words to describe the purpose of Spring Break: Sun, Sand, Sex and Surf. I would like to add one more... SAFETY.

Most students have a great time wherever they go to escape the cold of Illinois and the cramped-up conditions of their dorm or apartment. But every year we learn about tragedies, emergencies and injuries suffered by spring breakers. A few commonsense precautions can prevent most problems.

They are just 'tow cops, they won't arrest a student just having fun'......WRONG

The cops in spring break towns are not like department store security. They are real cops. The police on college campuses and surrounding communities are real. The cops in South Padre, Cancun and Hilton Head are just as real and will enforce drug, assault and battery, and public intoxication laws.

All of them arrest students on a regular basis, thus providing attorneys at student legal service offices a decent level of job security.

Every year I receive calls from students in various jails because of something they allegedly did while having too good of a time in the sun. Attorneys in Mexico -- and the U.S. -- are very expensive, and may cause your parents to have to take out a second mortgage on the family house to get you out of jail.

Traveling to Mexico

Marijuana is not legal in Mexico, despite what you may have been told. Just like when you are in the U.S., when you purchase drugs in Mexico you may very well be buying from an undercover agent. Spring breakers are easy targets for NARCOS, as well as real dealers who can be violent.

Also, don't leave your resort area and go off alone exploring greater Mexico on a sightseeing adventure. Alone equals danger.

Too much alcohol and too little sense

We know students drink on campus both legally and illegally. This has likely been true since colleges were first established. There are many students who do not binge drink or suffer from alcohol poisoning while on campus -- but the milieu of Panama City Beach all too easily causes... many to drink far more than they ever would at the campus bars.

Most spring break destinations try to provide no-drinking activities such as contests and music. But many tragedies of date rape still take place. Sadly, both the male and female may be too intoxicated to meaningfully know what happened. But the possibility of STDs and the emotional trauma is still very real. Rape is a felony in every spring break town and WILL be vigorously prosecuted. Being drunk is rarely, if ever, a valid defense to rape.

I can fly! Watch me glide off the 6th floor balcony....

I sound like somebody's dad preaching... Well, I am. And I certainly know that alcohol alone -- and even more so in combination with other substances -- can lead to extreme overconfidence. Every year intoxicated students jump, fly and fall off of spring break balconies. If you cannot glide like an eagle while sober, it is fairly likely that you will not soar much better while drunk. This goes for swimming, too. You do not want to drown or become shark bait.

While you are in the sun, the crooks are at your apartment

The burglars and thieves of college communities are keenly aware that spring break is coming up. They can hardly wait. Your apartment is their treasure trove. Your community may seem safe, but any burglar will happily enter your apartment if you leave the door unlocked. Lock the windows and doors.

Make sure you have renter's insurance. Your landlord is NOT the insurer of your personal property. Take your most valuable items back home.

Do NOT turn off the heat. It is not too late for deep freeze weather (after all that is why you are heading south). Pipes can and do freeze in March and your apartment can become a flood mess when you return.

Don't be scared, be prepared!

Most students have a safe and wonderful time on spring break as long as they use common sense. This dad's final piece of advice: "If you wouldn't do it on campus, you shouldn't do it on spring break... Well, most of the time."

UI gets sound spring break advice

Thomas Betz gives legal dos, don’ts for vacation

It is that time of year again when college students seek warmer climates. There are at least four S-words to describe the purpose of spring break in no particular order of priority: Sun, Sand, Sex and Surf. We at Student Legal Service would like to add one more S-word ... SAFETY. Most students have a great time wherever they go, but every year we learn about tragedies, emergencies and injuries suffered by spring breakers. A few commonsense precautions can prevent most problems.

- Traveling to Mexico: Marijuana is not legal in Mexico, despite what you may have been told. When you purchase drugs in Mexico just as in the U.S. you may very well be buying from an undercover agent. Spring breakers are “easy pickens” for NARC’s as well as real dealers who are not known for being nonviolent. Don’t leave your resort area and go off alone exploring greater Mexico on a sightseeing adventure. Alone equals danger.

- Too much alcohol and too little sense: We know students drink on campus both legally and illegally. This has likely been true since colleges were first established. Most students while on campus do not binge drink, do not suffer from alcohol poisoning, but the milieu of Panama City Beach all too easily causes many to drink far more than they ever would at Kam’s. Most spring break destinations try to provide no-drinking activities such as contests, music, etc., but many tragedies of date rape still take place. Sadly, both the male and female may be too intoxicated to meaningfully know what happened, but the possible STD and the emotional trauma is still very real. Rape is a felony in every spring break town and WILL be vigorously prosecuted. Being drunk is rarely, if ever, a valid defense to rape. I can fly: Watch me glide off the 6th floor balcony ... I sound like somebody’s dad preaching ... well, I am, and certainly know that alcohol alone and in combination with other substances can lead to extreme overconfidence. Every year intoxicated students “jump”/”fly”/”fall” off of spring break balconies putting real meaning into the “break” of spring break. If you cannot glide like an eagle while sober, it is fairly likely that you will not soar much better while drunk. This goes for swimming ... Daddy Tom says, “Don’t drink and drive and never drink and swim.” You do not want to drown or become shark bait.

- They are just toy cops, they won’t arrest a student just having fun: The cops at spring break towns are not like department store security, they are real cops. The police on campus and in Urbana-Champaign are real and they arrest students on a regular basis, thus providing attorneys at Student Legal Service a decent level of job security. Thank You Student Legal Services!

I recall Student Legal Services being mentioned at freshman orientation events. I also recall thinking that I would not ever need their services. Oh, how wrong I was!

This past summer I received a traffic citation far from campus (in southern Illinois for an internship) for what I maintain was 50 miles per hour in a 55 mile per hour zone. The officer, however, did not agree and cited me for traveling 50 miles per hour in a 35 mile per hour CONSTRUCTION ZONE! Needless to say, the fine was not going to be pleasant. My insurance was probably not going to appreciate it either!

I took hundreds of pictures of the scene and headed back to campus a couple weeks later. My trial was scheduled for October.

While chatting with a relative one day, he suggested I look into Student Legal Services on campus to see if they could help me defend myself. Shortly after, I scheduled an appointment and took all my evidence in. The attorney I worked with at Student Legal Services was able to do virtually everything with the exception of representing me in court. She contacted the prosecutor and managed to get my trial delayed. She again contacted the prosecutor to waive my first appearance so that I would only have to make the 8-hour round trip drive once. She reviewed the evidence and gave some suggestions on how to defend myself. She advised me of the implications of each decision I made and suggested courses of action for several contingencies. I went into that courtroom well prepared last week.

The case was dismissed. THANK YOU Student Legal Services, funded by your Student Organization Resource Fee!
I traveled down to last Friday to defend myself in the traffic case that I worked with you on. I arrived well prepared only for the case to be dismissed because the officer didn’t show up. I was extremely angry that I was forced to make that drive when the officer was probably instructed not to show up because they didn’t have the slightest case. I let the judge and prosecutor know of my displeasure in no uncertain terms. However, I am quite ecstatic this ordeal is finally over much in part to all of your help!
